

THE CUPOLA EFFECT AND ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT

02/2000

It all started with small businesses being bought up by a bigger one.

It continued with 2 big ones getting together.

This trend is happening all over the planet. The beginning was rather slow, now we have kind of an avalanche.

When big businesses merge, we get corporations.

Huge corporations merge, and fewer get left, so it starts to be kind of monopolies.

All this we see daily happening. It is "globalization".

But today these corporations are stronger than the governments.

We have global UNREST because there is a general feeling of threat, mostly on the economic side, but there is "no one" to be seen as everything is hidden behind shining business and banking facades.

Instead attention is drawn world wide on corrupt politicians who are now under heavy attacks while the REAL corrupted manipulators freely continue provoking wars, terrorism, etc, in order to make nations unstable, ruin their economies, and get those ruined lands under their control for a very cheap prize.

In our daily press we hear practically nothing of what is going on in Asia, in huge countries such as China, India, etc, but you can be certain that most of the corporations are using their influences there too.

As a result we see them increasing in wealth while nations sink in poverty.

We have people fighting against an INVISIBLE enemy and dying for "causes" created by these Global Corporations. A rather sad game!

As an example we have Indonesia where suddenly 2 different religions cannot live in peace together, so we have Islam fighting Catholics in the year 2000!

At the same time we have lots of press "news" about Pinochet and many other leaders in order to give us some targets on which to focus our attention and anger while the true perpetrators of most of our world misery is hidden in the very modern GLOBALIZATION.

Luckily there are some people that are showing the world, with their protests, that not all that shines is good, that all those big meetings are not made to help the world citizens!

Surely many reading this article already know most of it, but for them that are not aware, I would like them to understand what is going on, as I think that we then have a better chance to survive.
