

VISIBLE TERRORISM

20/09/01

Yes, there is a worldwide reaction over the tragedy in New York.

There is also a possibility that laws will change and the criminals really will get punished.

It is about time! We all suffer from daily terrorism in the form of kidnapping, criminality such as theft of personal belongings, cars and billions stolen by different politicians or high Executives most in bank business, also over the whole planet.

Yes, this is terrorism. Nations badly need those funds, but they miraculously disappear.

Most nations' bankruptcies are due to high-level CORRUPTION; we all know this but their persecution is laughable.

Terrorism is not being able to let your children safely walk to school. And, what about the drug society we are producing?, they seem protected by our laws.

What would you call the loss of lives and homes due to draughts and floods? It is also worldwide. Still the people in charge of pollution laws do nothing drastically about it.

The chemical industries are ruining many, our food has become unhealthy.

I could continue with this account but what I wish to say is that we first start thinking about doing something efficiently to improve our daily lives when we see a Huge catastrophe, which, when counting lives is rather tiny compared with only the thought that AIDS has been invented in a laboratory.

In our global justice departments, ethics should be a greater part of its function than corruption.

For the moment, MONEY is "GOD", and the real values are vanishing out of view in our terrorist ridden planet.

I sincerely hope that some people will wake up and start improving conditions for a fast dying humanity, not by bombing each other, but by correct legislation where crime is fully penalized and criminals start thinking twice before committing atrocities.

Lets make it worth living for decent people and not give all the possibilities of wealth to persons that instead of being heroes or winners deserve prison or death penalties.
