In a low toned society, people can identify any justice action or symbol with oppression. There is a tiny minority in society who will rail against any effort to forward decent and fair justice, and who will portray such efforts as reprehensible by alter-is-ing (changing) them.

This policy clarifies the cancellation of a former Scientology justice process called “Fair Game”. The purpose of this policy letter was to bring about a clear under-standing of what Fair Game was and why it was canceled and to prevent any alter-is of its former purpose and functions.

“Fair Game” first appeared in Scientology ethics terminology in 1965. It was a term used only in connection with individuals who had been expelled from the Church.

Its use was discontinued in 1966.

REASON FOR CANCELLATION OF “FAIR GAME”

“Fair Game” was canceled and has remained canceled because it was found that it could be misinterpreted by those antipathetic to Scientology to authorize justice actions of a more severe nature than expulsion.

We have in Scientology a technology to help free Man.

It is a big job but we are getting it done. Our justice system helps make the job easier by keeping the route open for everybody.

So let's continue to make sure it remains pure in its application.

Doing this, we all can win.
